

The Wreck of the Diddley

Fatcat & Fishface

Illustrations by Stephen Templer

craigpottonpublishing

No it wasn't,
it was 1863.

And we sailed on the good ship

'MY DARLING CLEMENTINE.'

No we didn't,
it was

MARY JANE MAREE.

Then came a storm,
a typhoon I recall,
and the waves they crashed all around.

They were 20 foot high and they looked us in the eye, and we thought to a man
we would drown.

We thought we'd die diddley die
diddley diddley diddley die,
we thought we'd die diddley die
diddley die.

First published in 2012 by Craig Potton Publishing 98 Vickerman Street, PO Box 555, Nelson, New Zealand
www.craigpotton.co.nz

© words and music Fatcat & Fishface © illustrations Stephen Templer

Hardback ISBN: 978 1 877517 41 9
Paperback ISBN: 978 1 877517 40 2

Printed in China by Midas Printing International Ltd

This book is copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purposes of private study, research, criticism or review, as permitted under the Copyright Act, no part may be reproduced by any process without the permission of the publishers.

