

EXPLORING THE INCREDIBLE WORLD OF TINY HOUSE LIVING AND SMALL SPACE DESIGN

Many of us dream of living in a tiny house. Small, compact buildings that offer an appealing way to live more sustainably, providing smart, energy-efficient housing at low cost – one solution to meeting the challenge of New Zealand’s housing shortage and the financial shackles of long-term debt.

Living Big in a Tiny House dives into the world of tiny homes and explores the lives of the unique individuals who are choosing to escape the confines of conventional housing, and the wonderful sometimes wacky alternatives that they create. Author Bryce Langston, a tiny house dweller from New Zealand, is one of them.

Inspired to explore these alternative homes and the individuals who inhabit them, Bryce started the web series, Living Big in a Tiny House. Now with a global audience of millions, he travels the world creating short videos of unique, well designed small homes and their owners. This is a collection of his favourite tiny house stories to date.

Living Big in a Tiny House celebrates the diversity of tiny houses and explores many of the innovative living and design solutions that tiny house-builders have developed in response to the challenges of smaller spaces. Bryce’s book provides a fascinating look into the rapidly growing tiny-house movement and showcases 40 innovative small-space dwellings in New Zealand and all over the world.
